Magnetic card reader wort Welcome to the MagTek North American Distributor Network!.NEW YORK (Reuters) - Police said on Thursday they were investigating the possible theft of pages from the Bible from an exhibition at a New York City art gallery that featured some of Pablo Picasso's famous works. The pages had been removed from eight Picasso drawings at Gavin Brown's enterprise in New York's SoHo neighborhood, reported CBS News affiliate WCBS. The drawings were on show at Gavin Brown's enterprise's "Picasso: The First Love" exhibition, which features more than 100 works by the Spanish artist from 1910 to 1950.

"The prints were taken last week after closing when the gallery was unattended," gallery spokesman Eric Baum said in a statement. Nationally, the theft of cultural property is a growing problem. Last year, New York police arrested two men for stealing pieces of art from the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, also in SoHo. Police said on Thursday they had not determined who was responsible for the Bible pages' disappearance. No one was in custody as of Thursday evening.
