I'm developing a pygtk UI for a program I'm working on, and I would like the window title text to change at various points in the program. I can't seem to figure out how to do that, though. Any advice would be appreciated. A: This is not really possible. A window is a representation of an application. It is not displayed itself, it is merely a means to show it to a user. You might be able to run external code, but that's an extreme amount of effort for no real benefit. BTW, if you do want to do it, why don't you do it with pango? Nancy Reagan, who died on Sunday at the age of 94, was seen by some as the quintessential Washington hand, a stewardess of the White House who never gave up on the causes she cared about. She was Ronald Reagan's wife, the first lady of the country, the mother of the current first lady, and the most important influence on his formative years as president. Her passing from natural causes has me thinking about that period of time in her life. The Reagan family has always been rich in history, and Nancy Reagan's role in that history was the stuff of legend. Her story began in rural Illinois, with a young woman who fell in love with her high school sweetheart, a good-looking boy named Jack Reagan, and married him in 1939 when he was 18 years old. Nancy Reagan was 16 at the time. Their first baby was born in 1940; the second in 1941, the third in 1942, and the fourth in 1944. Jack was active in his local Boy Scouts and in the service in World War II. He was wounded in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and discharged with the rank of commander. Nancy Reagan was first aware of politics when, in 1946, her husband won election to Congress. She was practically a political maverick herself: She felt strongly 0cc13bf012
