Gloria Allred Goes After Donald Trump, Announces Severe Campaign Against Him Testicular cancer survivor Donald Trump is creating quite the stir in the beauty industry as a new book titled, "Beauty Secrets of a Donald Trump Psychic" is causing quite the stir. Book author Gloria Allred claims that Mr. Trump is holding back money that he promised to give to the families of the women accusing him of various crimes — including lewd conduct — against them. "He has not yet paid them their money, which is $1.4 million. This sum is for the families of the women who have made sexual misconduct charges against him," Allred said in an article on the Hollywood Reporter. "There is a gap between the amount of money he promises to give to these families and the date he says he will give the money to these families." This comes on the heels of Mr. Trump agreeing to end an interview with Barbara Walters, who asked him to resign from his position on the Board of Directors of the Miss Universe Organization. In an interview with NBC's Matt Lauer, Mr. Trump told the anchor that he wouldn't be afraid to run for president because "I'm really rich." "That's better than running because I'm really rich," he said. "Wouldn't that be nice, you think about it, right? I'm, like, a smart person." Mr. Trump cited his wealth as the reason he will never be a politician. "Politics is not for me," he added. "I think it would ruin me. I would be destroyed
