About Tarnished Games Tarnished Games are an independent developer of games, and an outfit that develops games only for the PlayStation Portable. As a team that has been developing games together for more than 20 years, we have accumulated a number of experience and expertise in creating games. In the field of computer games, we specialized in creating games that are like “a musical.” We go to great lengths to create them through focusing on the elements such as music, rhythm, and sound. We believe that games should come from the heart, and we’re aiming to create games with elements that make users feel like they’ve been transported to a far-away place. We’re looking forward to creating games that may be new to gamers, but are made with the heart of gamers.
