after reading this issue and also reading the information on the fix command, i decided to try the fix command. i have not seen this error before. i followed the instructions in the fix dialog box, but still do not see endnote and excel appear in the list of microsoft tools to use. i can get endnote to run, but the problem is i get errors after that. i get the same errors in both word and excel. endnote places a temporary breakpoint on the line that is saying it can't find the symbols. the "run as" issue the fix for "run as" issue the "run as" issue resolved after wasting two hours trying to get the "run as" to work in word 2011, i decided to try to switch to word 2010. so i installed the "fix for run as" for word 2010, and then i ran the fix command for word 2011. i still have the "run as" issue in word 2010. there are no symbols that are missing in word 2010, as an academic, i love and use word. so this is very frustrating to me. when i open a document, it ends up with several empty cells after the first and last cell. the endnote file is empty but the endnote is usually formatted in this way. should i open the endnote file in word and re-format it? i have tried so many different ways of importing from word, and none have worked. how are you guys doing it? i am using the endnote extension for word and adding/importing to word. i have exported the entire endnote file to the file, then imported the file to a new doc in word, and changed to the endnote portion and reset as usual. when done, i save and close the doc. i am trying to create a note using evernote but when i try to use it in word, it states that it's an "unrecognized" file type. i can import note content into word but it creates a new note so i have to move it back and forth between notes to move things.

i would like to share my experience of using endnote x1. i download endnote x1 for the first time, and found endnote x1 to be great. i would like to share my experience with people. i have also placed a download link below. if you are planning to download endnote x1, you should also learn how to download, install and use endnote x1 first. the capability of aligning the footnote mark and inserting a footnote; the ability to insert a copyright note; the added functionality of storing all of your formatting changes in a separate file in a user-friendly format; and includes an extensive assortment of useful, pre-set templates for citations and footnotes for use in word. i have neither pursued nor been aware of any way to migrate the user directory from the old 2011 macbook pro to the new one - because, as i have just explained, it is not there. it is, as i have already explained, in the somewhat moribund /users/username/library/containers/com.microsoft.office.word/data/local folder. having used the new 2018 macbook pro now for quite some time, and having used a lot of different apps, it is not obvious to me that any of the programs i have installed are using that folder. i am not going to be able to move my contacts from the 2011 macbook pro to the 2018 macbook pro. i do have attaches from the 2011 macbook pro that are already on the 2018 one, but i'm having trouble with getting the 2018 macbook pro to read them. the attaches were previously on an sd card reader built into the 2011 macbook pro, but i have since removed that and attached the 2011 macbook pro to my 2018 macbook pro directly.
