eddie is sitting in a bar, talking with a man wearing a cowboy hat. the man tells eddie that he has a gun and is going to kill him, and eddie asks "why?" the man replies "why not?" eddie tells him to shoot him, but the man just laughs. eddie is then approached by a female fbi agent, asking if he is eddie callaghan. eddie asks what is going on, but the woman just smiles and walks away. when eddie looks up, the woman is gone. eddie then looks at the man, who just smiles and walks away. when eddie asks the man what is going on, he just smiles and walks away. eddie then hears a gun shot and looks over to see the man with the cowboy hat is dead. after a while, he heard lalo refer to a mysterious "big white guy" who paid him $50,000 to be the first to break the cartel truce. "he told me he's got somebody in washington who's prepared to pay $1 million to get this guy," bencomo said. bencomo and lalo were concerned that if they killed the big white guy, there would be retaliation. so, they plotted to plant a bomb in the man's car. it was a strange feeling to see that man sitting alone in his car at a juarez gas station, watching the road and waiting for his ride to come. it was like he was waiting to get a pizza, "bencomo said. "he was a nice guy. we liked him. we felt bad, 'cause we were going to kill him. but we needed the money.'" but lalo's case was more than that. he was charged with seven murders. he received a death sentence and spent almost a year in jail. lalo made the mistake of calling home, but his father, who owned a chicken business, had disappeared in mexico. he didn't believe his son was guilty and said so. lalo's mother, who was living in texas, heard the bad news and became hysterical. "i'm sorry. i'm sorry," she kept saying. she became hysterical again when she learned that lalo had been sentenced to die. "i'm sorry," she said. "why did he get the death penalty?" her husband had convinced her that it wasn't right. but lalo's mother didn't understand. she felt so guilty, she couldn't tell anyone. in mexico, her son, who loved the sea, didn't even know how to swim. lalo's mother was afraid he would drown. she wanted to save him, but she didn't know what to do.
