The tools in Photoshop CC are very different from the old type. It's important if you're a new user to the software or you don't want to spend much time learning it, then it could be a challenge. The old way is that you may use the tools and move them around. The new way is that you are given snapping functions. When you drag the Tab key, the snapped position will be highlighted. When you release the Tab key, the tool jumps to that position. If it's not there, the tool will go to the nearest point. The left side of the Tab key is the previous tool, and the right side of the Tab key is the next tool. There are two new options in the preferences of Photoshop. The first one is called mirror mode and the second one is called rulers. The mirror mode is for the design corner in shape layers. When you select the mirror mode, the layer is flipped around to the opposite side, so the images are not flipped. You can flip only the design corner, and the design corner is at the bottom and the top line. You can see the flipped design corner in the view menu. When you select the rulers option, the view is designed with composition of the rulers below the layer view. You can also form an image using the grid and align view. It's very important to use the Photoshop concept. You can also remove colors or white from the document to make it different when it comes to the design. If you want your design to look different, you can change the Curves, levels, curves tool, and you can make it black and white. You can covert colored images to black and white or a color to grayscale, or cover color to black and white.
